

T2'008 EU Rubber-spec Edition - Rear Anti-roll Bar Contacting Rear Diff

On the T2'008 EU Rubber-spec Edition, the rear anti-roll bar slightly contacts the larger 38T pulley when the eccentric diff holders are in the last two positions. For basic set-up we recommend building the car according to the T2'008 Instruction Manual and to place the tab of the eccentric diff holder in the middle; this will give more space between the diff and the rear anti-roll bar. Use these new thicker composite holders on T2'008 EU Rubber-spec Edition kit, so the rear anti-roll bar will not contact the rear diff. The new thicker composite holders will be available within the same part number (#303411), but will be identifiable by the "V2" symbol.
